

Born to Believe Series Introduction

We live in a multicultural, multi-faith world. Gone are the days when Christianity was the only or predominate religion of our country. Every day our students are engaging with people of other faiths, in their schools and neighbourhoods and through the media. It is our privilege and responsibility as leaders to help students know what they believe and how they can lovingly and intelligently dialogue with people of other faiths. These are the two central aims of the Born to Believe series.

Born to Believe explores The Four Big Questions of life from the perspective of the monotheistic, the polytheistic, and the atheistic religions. In each lessons students will discover some of the similarities and differences between these religions. They will consider the unique claims of Christianity. And they will also look for guidelines for dialoguing with people of other faiths, preparing them for faithful living in a pluralistic society.
