

Champion
Spaces
where

Anointed Leaders

will Flourish

“We need you to champion and empower young anointed leaders (those gifted with entrepreneurial and innovative ideas) to create fresh and audacious kingdom-building endeavours that will see the mission of the Church thrive all while you also cultivate the care for the soul and well-being of those who have been called to lead.”

As we discern our church’s action plan in creating and cultivating this area, let’s consider these starter questions to provide a more defined framework, which can include collaborating with a working group in our church.

STARTER QUESTIONS

1. What leadership opportunities/development can be facilitated within our church family that a younger person can take the lead on?
2. What external opportunities outside our church can be endorsed to our young leaders that would expand the impact of the Gospel?
3. Which specific kid/youth could we see as an up-and-coming leader and how are we going to give them space and support to lead?

4. How will we financial resource and provide relational support/mentoring to that up-and-coming leader with one meaningful/substantive opportunity?

5. How are we setting up youth to succeed while giving appropriate support when they struggle? Do we trust our youth to succeed and fail?

6. What “red tape” needs to be removed to empower our young leaders to thrive?
